

MEMPHIS CLUBS WILL WELCOME LOEW AND STARS

Shriners Host Thursday—Rotarians, Kiwanians and Nineteenth Century Club To Be at Station.

If Marcus Loew and his party of movie stars attending the opening of Loew's State, Thursday, are not fully acquainted with the meaning of "Southern hospitality" now, there will be a full understanding by the time of their departure from Memphis on Friday night.

With Thursday, the day of their arrival, brimming full of activity with the Al Chymia Temple and Shriners as the only host for that day, Friday will be equally an active program with the Memphis Rotary, Kiwanis and Nineteenth Century clubs taking the visitors in tow.

Lee Kids Are Coming.

The trip to the Central high school on Friday morning has been given two-fold interest especially to the student body, with their additional name of the Lee "kids" (Jane and Katherine) to the star list. These juvenile stars of the screen are undoubtedly the best-known child celebrities of motion pictures.

The present school provides for the arrival of Mr. Loew and the stars at the college about 11 o'clock on Friday morning. The cadet corps, under Commandant C. Paschal, will turn out in drill immediately upon their arrival. Hardwig Peres, head of the board of education; Superintendent of Schools Wharton S. Jones, and Principal C. P. Kester will be on hand to welcome them.

Rotary Luncheon Next.

Following a visit of more than an hour with the school children, Mr. Loew and party will return to the city to be the guests of the Memphis Rotarians, who have arranged a special noonday banquet at the Hotel Chicago in their honor.

A gathering of fully 500 is expected at this function to include the entire membership of the Rotary, ten representative departmental heads of the Nineteenth Century club by special invitation and guests of the members.

On behalf of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, R. R. Ellis, the president, will deliver a short address of welcome at the Rotary luncheon to Mr. Loew and the movie stars. There will be a response by Mr. Loew and some of the stars.

The committee in charge of the arrangements at this special affair includes E. R. Bargo, president; Chas. F. Hulse, vice-president; Fred D. Henke, secretary; and H. L. Pollock, chairman of the entertainment committee. There will also be a turn-out of Rotarians at the train Thursday morning to meet the Memphis special bearing the stars.

Kiwanians Take Charge. With the Rotary luncheon over, Marcus Loew and the stars will immediately become the guests of the Memphis Kiwanians, who plan a motor trip through the city and parks and to the Country Club.

The visitors to Loew's State in ample time for their personal appearance at Loew's State that afternoon.

Those in charge of the tour are G. F. Schlect, president; Allan Fisher, vice-president; C. W. Schley, secretary, and J. B. Kelly, treasurer. A Kiwanian delegation is now being formed to meet the visitors on their arrival at the Union station Thursday morning.

Woman's Club Active.

No less active in the welcome of Marcus Loew and the screen celebrities than other local clubs will be the Nineteenth Century club, who not only plan to send a large delegation to the train and accompany the visitors to the city hall Thursday, but have invited them to an afternoon tea at their club quarters on Friday. Time permitting the visitors will avail themselves of the invitation, and will reach the club quarters shortly after their first appearance Friday at Loew's State.

The delegation to the train will include Misses Hill Bond, Hugh Hayley, George C. Wellons, G. T. Fitzhugh, Randolph Chears and Giles Bond of the good fellowship committee, and Messrs. Julius Goodman, George Bone, Thornton Buchanan, John Lucas, Misses Sarah Wright, Marilla Freeman and Bob Weatherford from the dramatic art department, also Misses Thomas Walkup, P. H. Heiskell, James H. Watson, R. P. Woodson, A. R. Hudson and Percy Finlay.

Mrs. E. G. Williamson, president of the organization and Mrs. B. F. Turner, vice-president, are in charge of the activities planned in connection with the reception to the stars.

TWO PRISONERS TAKE POISON BY MISTAKE

Hampton Holston, negro, who shot and killed Isaac Levy, South Main street jeweler, and who was convicted and sentenced to death in the electric chair for the crime, and John Wilda, another negro held in all on a charge of violating the anti-lynch law, were near death's door Monday night at 9 o'clock when they swallowed bi-chloride of mercury tablets in the county jail, given them by the jailer for sanitary purposes.

The jailer discovered that the negroes had taken the dose internally and gave first aid treatment, later calling in Dr. Perkins, who advised the men were now beyond danger.

Holston was convicted for one of the most heinous murders in the history of the city. Coming to Memphis from Arkansas, the negro is alleged to have entered the store of the aged man and shot him to death while his victim had his hands up.

The supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court on the ground that the jury failed to assess the punishment for the crime as required by the act of 1919 in murder cases.

MRS. ELLIS OUT FOR SCHOOL BOARD JOB

Mrs. S. J. Ellis, who has been identified with the citizens' committee almost from its beginning as a political factor in the city, has announced her candidacy for member of the city board of education. It is understood that the citizens' committee will offer a ticket of five candidates, but Mrs. Ellis is announcing her candidacy independent of any faction or organization.

In her statement she says: "I wish to announce myself as a candidate for the board of education at the election in November. It is my desire to submit my claims to the people of Memphis independently of any faction or political line."

EQUINE WITH CIRCUS IS WORLD WAR VETERAN

There is with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus, coming to this city next Saturday, a horse that holds his head a bit more proudly than his fellows. He is Joscelyn, and, were service stripes awarded to equines, he would wear three of them. For Joscelyn served in the great war.

At the outbreak of hostilities, Yvette Renee and her brother, Francois, were appearing in the Nouveau Cirque in Paris. Then Francois joined the French cavalry and took Joscelyn with him. For two years master and horse served together. But there came a day when the lad fell in battle. The horse grieved one of his comrades and was eventually returned to the sister. Last winter while the Ringling Brothers European representative was in quest of acts for the big double circus, Mile Renee was engaged and when she came to this country she brought Joscelyn with her. He is said to be the first horse to have crossed the water since the termination of hostilities.

Mile Renee comes of one of Europe's oldest circus families. Her grandfather, Jean Rene, spent a season in America, when P. T. Barnum made his first tour of this country. She and the beautiful mount which she rides are inseparable. She always talks to him in French. On the silver medallions that adorn his bridle is a gold star. Among the many equestrians imported by the Ringling Brothers for the present season's tour are nine who hail from France, England or Italy. But all except Mile Renee ride upon American bred horses.

travectly dressed acrobatic act close to the bill. "Topics of the Day" and "Kino-grams" are shown. John Borge's orchestra has a selection of numbers that are appreciated.

The Orpheum for vaudeville's sake will remember it as the best offering thus far this season. They will remember the whole bill and not carry the reminder of a single turn of two.

Loew's Lyceum. Although dancing just now is at a height in popularity never before attained, the dances of today, according to Charles Harte, at Loew's Lyceum, lack much of the beauty of some years ago. Harte has been dancing for 15 years in musical comedy productions, vaudeville and cabarets and is a close student of terpsichore.

The Castles lent much popularity to dancing, Harte says, and there was a dignified and stately style which was almost out of existence. Nothing so eccentric as the shimmy, or some of the other jazz varieties, Harte declares, marked the ballroom floors when the Castles introduced the hesitation. He laments much the coming of the cheek-to-cheek style which is slowly but surely forcing down the plane of this form of entertainment.

The waltz, the polka, the two-step and the scottische were favorites of Harte. Into his act much of the courtly dances are introduced.

UNION PLANS HOSPITAL. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 5.—Plans for the erection of a $200,000 hospital in this city for the exclusive use of coal miners were made public today by officials of District 17, United Mine Workers of America. The hospital will be modern in every respect and any profits realized will be put back into the institution in improved facilities and service, according to Fred Mooney, district secretary.

Greek Church Gets All Proceeds Of Wednesday's Trade

The Greeks of Memphis have adopted a unique and sacrificing method of raising money with which to complete the payment of the outstanding indebtedness on the Greek Orthodox church on Third street and Poplar avenue.

On Wednesday every Greek business, regardless of its nature or size, will donate the entire proceeds of the day to the church fund. Nothing will be deducted for expenses or any other purpose. It is agreed that every cent taken in will go to the church.

The church cost $50,000 which was quite a burden for the small Greek colony in Memphis. They have an indebtedness of about $25,000 outstanding which they are anxious to pay off at the earliest possible moment.

A number of public spirited citizens have donated to the cause in appreciation of the civic activities of the long-time members of the church. Others who desire to contribute to the church fund may send checks to Chris Evans at Pantano's, Main street and Madison avenue.

U. S. TANKER HELPLESS.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The British steamer Valenta reports that at noon yesterday she received a distress signal by wireless from the American tank steamer Dartford, saying that her steering gear was disabled and the ship was helpless. The position of the steamer was given as latitude 48 north, longitude 25 west. The Dartford sailed from New York Sept. 22 for Havre.

AVIATOR SUCUMBES.

DATON, Ohio, Oct. 5.—Master Signal Electrician Strong E. Madan, 27, of Lansing Mich., test pilot at McCook field, near here, died late yesterday from a fractured skull received when his airplane fell 200 feet yesterday. Witnesses say Madan slackened speed while making a turn and went into a tail spin from which he had no time to recover because of the low altitude at which he was flying.
